The Wheel of Time is a complex and detailed world, with a rich history and mythology. The series has been praised for its well-developed characters, intricate plot, and epic scope. However, there are also some things that you may not know about the series.

Here are 5 facts about The Wheel of Time that you may not have known:

1. The series was originally supposed to be a trilogy.

When Robert Jordan first started writing The Wheel of Time, he envisioned it as a trilogy. However, as he developed the story, he realized that it would be too complex for just three books. He eventually decided to expand the series to six books, and then to 12 books. The final book in the series, A Memory of Light, was published posthumously in 2013, after Jordan's death.

2. The series was inspired by a dream.

Robert Jordan has said that he was inspired to write The Wheel of Time after he had a dream about a group of people traveling through a desert. He was so intrigued by the dream that he decided to write a story about it. The dream eventually became the basis for the first book in the series, The Eye of the World.

3. The series is set in a world that is similar to our own.

The world of The Wheel of Time is similar to our own in many ways. There are cities, towns, and villages. There are also kings, queens, and nobles. However, there are also some important differences between the world of The Wheel of Time and our own. For example, in the world of The Wheel of Time, there is magic. Magic is a powerful force that can be used for both good and evil.

4. The series has a large cast of characters.

The Wheel of Time has a large cast of characters. There are over 100 named characters in the series, and many more unnamed characters. The main characters in the series are Rand al'Thor, Egwene al'Vere, Perrin Aybara, and Mat Cauthon. These four characters are all young people who are destined to play a major role in the fight against the Dark One.

5. The series has been adapted into a television series.

The Wheel of Time has been adapted into a television series by Amazon Prime Video. The first season of the series premiered in November 2021. The series stars Rosamund Pike as Moiraine Damodred, a powerful Aes Sedai who is searching for the Dragon Reborn. The Dragon Reborn is a powerful hero who is destined to defeat the Dark One.
